SOCIAL CREDIT MEETING

John H. Blackmore, M. P., will speak Monday evening in the High School on "Alberta and Confederation" and "It can be Done." An opportunity will be given for questions during the evening. The meeting starts at 8 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

CROP PROSPECTS WONDERFUL

Crop prospects throughout the district at this writing are practically perfect. Rains have been sufficient to keep the crops progressing steadily and the grain fields are carpeted with a heavy stand of grain, which demands a great deal of moisture to keep it coming. Yields of 50 bushels will not be uncommon if the rains come to fill the grain and keep it growing as it is at the present time.

Winter wheat is in the head and filling, and cutting should be under way the end of July if the weather remains favorable. Rye will be ready for the sickle within the next two weeks and promises a heavy yield. Beets have never looked better, and according to Frank R. Taylor Agricultural Superintendent of the Canadian Sugar Factories, Ltd., prospects at present look like the biggest crop of beets that has ever been harvested.

Some farmers had difficulty with the first crop of alfalfa because of the steady rains during the last part of June. Some fields were cut for two weeks before they could be hauled and this long period in the field did not improve the quality of the hay, although most of it appears to be good feed even yet. The second crop is coming on rapidly now and everyone is busy irrigating to hurry it along.

To date, July 12, Raymond and district has escaped hail. There has been several scares in the past weeks but none has fallen yet. A good soaking rain now, between the hay crops would be greatly appreciated by everyone.

Leavitt assisted Mrs. Kirkham as hostesses while the refreshment table was presided over by Mrs. I. Kitchen, Mrs. E. Shaw and Mrs. H. M. Holmes. Mrs. J. Robertson of Centerville was a special guest.

The Fathers and Sons Outing of the Taylor Stake of Zion will be held at Camp Kootenai in Red Rock Canyon, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week July, 18th, 19th and 20th.

Charles Matkin and Robert Salmon, Commissioner and Assistant, will have charge of the camp, and camp fires will be a feature of the outing each night. Tuesday will be devoted to sports of one kind and another, and the camp will disband Wednesday.

All Dads and Lads who can possibly arrange to be at the camp should be there and enjoy these two days together. Remember Camp Kootenai, the first three days of next week.

Quarterly Conference

With Elder Stephen L. Richards of the Council of the Twelve and Elder Stringam L. Stevens of the Church Welfare Committee in attendance representing the General Authorities of the Church, the Quarterly Conference of the Taylor Stake of Zion commenced at 7 p.m. Wednesday night with a fair crowd in attendance considering a mid-week Conference and a busy season.

W. C. Stone, with Mrs. Paul Dahl at the piano, led the congregation in singing "We Thank Thee O God for a Prophet" and the invocation was offered by Bishop Floyd Wilde of Welling followed by "For the Strength of the Hills we Bless Thee" by the Choir.

Scout Commissioner presented eight of the Stirling Boy Scouts with their King's Scout badge, and complimented them highly on their achievements, expressing the hope that they would carry on. He stated that this made 21 King Scouts in the Taylor Stake which was a very good record.

Pres. T. Geo. Wood in reporting conditions of the Stake mentioned the good attendance of members at Sacrament meeting also Priesthood Quorum meetings. There was, however, a large group in the Adult Aaronic Priesthood who needed individual attention, and he asked the men of the Melchizedic Priesthood Quorums to make it their business to labor with these men and try and get them interested again, as they were members of the Church and needed the training and activity that the church had to offer.

Mrs. E. E. Reithman and Cyril A. Layne rendered a vocal duet.

Elder Stringam L. Stevens of the Church Welfare Committee expressed his pleasure at again visiting in Southern Alberta. He had worked in Cardston and helped build the canal, shot coyotes on the site of what is now Raymond, and so was well acquainted with the country. He was delighted with the progress of the district and the prospects of a good crop that now prevailed. Referring to the Welfare work he stated that the program was meeting with splendid response throughout the Church. It was not a dole, but it was a project of collecting from the surplus of those who had and transferring it to the districts of those who had not. Then, by means of a works program to give these needy people a chance to earn what they needed. Many of the wards had embarked on projects of beautification and the results, both inside and outside of the churches was very gratifying and satisfactory, and those who had performed the work felt they had truly earned what they were getting.

The Choir sang "Let Us Mounting Shout for Joy." Elder Stephen L. Richards was the concluding speaker of the meeting and voiced by great pleasure at again visiting the Canadian Stakes after having been away for twelve years. The Quarterly Conference was called to give the General Authorities a chance to examine the affairs of the Church in its various stakes, which now numbered 122. He felt the great responsibility he had in being an ambassador of the Lord Jesus Christ, and prayed for help and strength to be able to be worthy of this honor. Referring to the great influence the life and had made & was making on the teachings of the Son of Man peoples of the world, he said he doubted if there were any people anywhere who were more truly disciples of the Man of Galilee in word and deed than were the Latter-Day Saints, whose knowledge of His divine mission gave them a clearer conception of what it was all about than any other class of people in the world. In his opinion, when Christ came again to establish His kingdom, the men on the earth who held the Priesthood would be the men who would be called to assist in the organization and administration of the affairs of the kingdom, and he pleaded with the worthy of their calling and prepared for such a call. He spoke of preparedness on the part of missionaries, and said there was always a hearing for the man or the woman who was prepared; and he feared that many of our missionaries left home without the preparation they should have, and in this respect thought the activities of the auxiliary organizations might well be directed toward the preparation of missionaries for active labor in the field. "Man cannot be saved in ignorance," and "The Glory of God is Intelligence" were wonderful truths and meant just what they said. Speaking of the new and Everlasting Covenant, in his opinion it was an agreement between God and man, that on conditions of obedience and respect, God would confer upon me, His children, all the blessings that their obedience and manner of life warranted, and that only by their own acts would they deprive themselves of a fulness of celestial light and glory. He bore his testimony to the validity of the work inaugurated by the Prophet Joseph Smith and said that his grandfather was in Carthage jail when Joseph Smith was martyred and would gladly have given his life to save that of Joseph, and in connection with the individual testimony that he had of the truthfulness of this work and the mission of Joseph Smith, he had the testimony of his grandfather Richards, and he knew that he was a man who would not lie. He encouraged his listeners to be true to the faith, and to live by faith, for after all even the common phenomena of life, such as light, sound, the law of gravitation, etc., defied explanation despite the fact that we knew they existed. "Kipling's Recessional" by the Choir was followed by benediction by Bishop Jas. H. Walker.

A special meeting of the Stake Presidency, High Council and the Welfare Committee of each ward with representatives and Quorum Presidencies was of the Bishopric, Relief Societies held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Stake House.

PRIESTHOOD SESSION

A special Priesthood meeting was held at 4 p.m. Thursday, at which time reports of the activities of the various Melchizedic Priesthood Quorums were made and showed progress and a fair measure of participation on the part of members in all the Quorums. Elder Stringam Stevens urged the Aaronic Priesthood members to be good Deacons, Teachers and Priests, and in so doing they would lay a foundation that it would be easier for them to carry on as Elders, Seventies and High Priests. He pleaded with the older men to live good lives so that boys would not stumble and be led away because of the actions of some man whom they had for an ideal.

Elder Richards spoke of the organization and government in the Church and said that the first duty of a quorum was to its members and the first duty of the member was to his

TRADE BOARD WIRES PREMIER KING

The following telegram was despatched from the Board of Trade on Thursday to Prime Minister MacKenzie King, at Ottawa, re the minimum price of wheat, which subject is a matter of public discussion across the Dominion at the present time. The wire is self-explanatory:

"Before Committee makes statement regarding the new minimum price on wheat, the conditions besetting the farmers of Western Canada should be considered which include drought, soil erosion and other unfavorable conditions which affects the economic conditions of the entire west, and in view of this we appeal to you that the new price should not be lower than the present established price of 87 1-2c, per bushel."

The wire was signed by Lee Brewerton and L.L. Palmer, President and Secretary of the Board of Trade.

Quorum. Quorum officers should go out after the neglectful member, and should not stop until every possible avenue of approach has been exhausted to warm these men up and bring them back into activity with their brethren. Anyone could take charge of a meeting, but it required humility, tact, and a prayerful spirit to labor with the disinterested quorum member and warm him up again. He suggested a method of approach to these men through the reports of the quorum that have to go into the Presiding Bishop office each quarter.

Pres. Wood spoke and said that one of the biggest problems in the Stake, was the loss of the young men between the ages of 15 and 20, and he asked the assistance of all the other members of the Priesthood quorums in solving this problem and finding a way to hold the boys.

MISSIONARIES REPORT

The Thursday evening meeting opened with the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and Elder Clarence Allred of the High Council offered the opening prayer, after which the Choir sang "Guide Us O Thou Great Jehovah."

Elder E. P. Tanner was called on to report the Stake Missionary work and stated he was very well pleased with the success that was attending the labors of the missionaries, and he believed a great many people would be converted through this program. There were 34 missionaries called to this service. Pres. Wood released four missionaries from the 1st Ward because of other church duties with a vote of thanks for their labors. Stake Clerk J. B. Roberts then presented the General and Stake authorities of the Church, and they were all unanimously sustained by the vote of the people.

A Ladies Quartette was rendered by ladies of the Stirling Ward.

Elder Fay Walker who labored for nearly a year in the German Mission and was forced to return home because of ill-health reported on his labors and expressed his appreciation for the opportunity he had enjoyed, and Miss Beatrice Jensen who had labored for 22 months in the California Mission related some of her experiences and expressed the pleasure she had enjoyed in being a mission any of the Church.

A piano, cello and violin trio was rendered by Mrs. J. A. Kirie and daughter and Nyal Fletcher of Magrath.

Elder Stephen L. Richards was the concluding speaker and referred to the request of Pres. Grant and the General Authorities of the Church that every

ROTARY WILL BACK SWIMMING POOL

At the meeting Monday evening of the Rotary Club, it was decided to form a Committee from the Club to foster and assist in organizing and staging a swimming competition and demonstration at the local Pool during August possibly. More details will be available when the Committee get together and arrange the program.

The International Peace Park meeting and Banquet in the Prince of Wales Hotel at Waterton Saturday evening this week will likely be attended by a good representation from the local club. The banquet commences at 7 p.m. sharp.

President Lee announced the President's and Secretaries Conference in Brandon on August 8th and 9th, and stated that he and the Secretary would attend if at all possible.

Pres. T. Geo. Wood took the remainder of the time in reporting further on The San Francisco International Convention.

TEMPLE DAY NEXT FRIDAY

The annual Temple excursion of the Raymond 2nd Ward will be held Friday, July 22nd, and the Ward Chairman, Arthur Dahl is desirous that all ward members rally to this call and make the day an outstanding success.

Those who desire transportation should contact some member of the Committee so that this may be arranged, and those who have room in their cars for passengers would do the Committee a great favor if they could report how many they could take so allotments could be made.

person who held an office of responsibility in the Church should live in obedience to the laws of the Church, especially in respect to Tithing and the Word of Wisdom. This requirement was not made in the spirit of forcing any out of positions they now held, but in the hope that they would choose the better part and make themselves better men and women through obedience to these laws. He asked the men who which was the thing that set us apart from the rest of the world more than any other one thing. Men of the Priesthood should refrain from any practice that would tear down the work of God. Every man who has received the Priesthood has it as a means of blessing to his fellow man, and he can only exercise his right in it when he is living so that God will recognize his official acts.

Speaking of the loss of the young men, he related the story of the Prodigal Son to show that the Father was always ready to forgive the erring, and so we should make our boys and girls know that we were interested in them and wanted them to do right for their own good, and that when they did do wrong we were always ready to forgive them. He wanted a closer companionship between parents and children, so the children would be able to understand them and keep them from straying. It took courage on the part of youth to do right, but this course of action paid big dividends and was worth it.

The choir sang the closing anthem, and Elder Alf Erickson, who was celebrating his 80th birthday on Thursday, offered the benediction.

ARE YOU DISCOURAGED?

Are you discouraged? Then stand with me in spirit on some street corner and watch the crowd go by.

See that blind man being led through the crowd by a young boy. Blue? No—he has reason to be; but look there is a smile on his face.

Look at that ragged youngster selling newspapers. And, listen—he's actually whistling.

Here comes a cripple with both legs off at the knees. He is pushing himself along on a little four-wheeled cart, and he's rolling pencils to make a living.
Isn't he licked him yet!

The parade passes on. Rich and poor, crippled, maimed and lame. Bartered by life, they drift along still smiling; with faith that there are better days ahead.

What cowards we are to be discouraged! What are financial losses compared with the loss of ones eyes or legs. What are red figures in the ledger, compared with the suffering that we can see from any street corner?

Out of the way discouragement we've just begun to fight!—Wainwright Star

'GOOD OLD DAYS' A MYTH DECLARES MAGAZINE WRITER

The "good old days"? They never were. That, at least, is the opinion Donald Hough, American author, sets forth in the current Rotarian Magazine.

"Men change, but time goes on," he says. "Tests prove that the apple of today is a better apple than that of 50 years ago.
The Weather Bureau finds that over a period of 50 years there has been a change of a small fraction of one degree in the mean temperature of a certain small area in the Southeastern part of the United States, otherwise all is the same as before. The snow lies just as deep, the winters are just as cold, the summers are just as hot—or vice versa.

To this, Hough adds the verdict that the best cooking is found not on the farm of yesterday, but in the restaurant of today. Cooking in America—once enslaved to the frying pan and boiling pot—is one of its newest arts, he indicates. The food is better now, perhaps the appetites aren't.

"Not all people in America live in three-room kitchenette apartments, most politicians are honest, the average policeman cannot be bought, the country is full of young people who REALLY DO know more than their elders, money as a barometer of human worth is losing its grip, the cooking is getting better, people live longer, the whole history of man still can be summed up in one short word
"advance." So says the author.

"The 'good old days'?" he asks. Which ones.

Our Edmonton Letter

Edmonton, Alberta— Alberta
still is waiting for some startling announcement of a new economic and financial system. Reports is the government is planning a new issue of script, only slightly different from that which failed so miserably and expensively two years ago, grew stronger last week, and at the same time some action still was being awaited on establishment of credit unions under the act passed a few months ago.

There has been no real sign yet of progress toward the unions, but it has become obvious to observers here and to international experts on credit unions, if not to the Alberta government itself, that such credit unions cannot possibly take the place of banks. Thus, when political spindlers say that it does not matter if banks withdraw from Alberta because credit unions will replace them those politicians are misleading the people.

The world's founder, expert and publicist on credit unions is Roy F. Bergengren, and his latest book Cuna Emerges has just gone into its third edition. Mr.
Bergengren states flatly that credit unions do not and cannot replace banks, and that on the contrary they all do their business with banks. They cause no loss of business whatsoever to banks, he says, because the unions deal only in small savings and small loans which otherwise would not be made at all.

During the past week Premier Aberhart for the first time since he assumed office as the head of the Social Credit government met his match in a public meeting at Okotoks when his outspoken critics howled him down and forced him to stop speaking. The premier is the most unhappy speaker in a rough and tumble debate in Canada. He habitually avoids debating in the legislature because he knows he is unable to hold his end up in any sort of give and take discussion.

All his career he has been used to dictating his views on everything without contradiction and to be howled down would be a very humiliating experience to one so heavily loaded with self-opinion as he. The premier has begun to discover that a political meeting with its angry hecklers and indignant critics is a very different sort of garnering to one where he barricades behind his pulpit and dogmatically thrusts his views down his throats and a classroom where his statements can never be questioned.

Comment in Edmonton both inside Social Credit circles and among opponents agreed that the visit of Mr. Aberhart to his own riding can now be classed along with his illadvised adven-blunder of a man much overrated as a leader and another demonstration of Premier Aber-hart's lack of foresight, judgement and tactfulness.

The premier on his return to Edmonton made a characteristic statement, displaying his still further lack of tact. He described his critics at Okotoks as a bunch of "rowdies". He must have made up his mind that he had no expectations of votes at the next election from these people, or he surely would have more sense than to insult respectable citizens just because they disagreed with his policies.

It is being rumored in Edmonton now that one result of the premier's tour of his constituency will likely be that the $209 held illegally by the government from the petitioners who wanted to unseat Mr. Aberhart will be returned. Even a blind man can understand and perceive that the withholding of this money has damaged the premier's standing with the electors more than anything else.

Another result of the tour will be that at last the Hon. E. C.
Manning and Premier Aberhart as leaders in government propaganda activities on Sundays must cease spreading the false statement that 90 per cent of the people are behind the government. Nothing like 90 per cent are supporting Premier Ab-erhart in his own constituency.

Instalment Thirty

Monty Wallace, round the world flight hero, has been blackmailed by Vivian Morgan who claims Monty is her husband. Monty has been engaged to Natalie Wade, a newspaper-woman. Sunny Marion, daughter of Jabe Marion, airplane manufacturer, who backed Monty on his record making flight, was engaged to marry Jimmy Hale, newspaper photographer and fellow staff worker with Natalie under their editor, Mack Hanlon.

Instead of having a claim on Monty, Vivian really has information of a damaging nature concerning one of Sunny's escapades during a New York visit. This she admits in a private session with Sunny. Vivian threatens to create a scandal about Monty unless Sunny to protect herself, influences Monty to pay off the alleged wife. This she attempts, but in a moment of anguish confesses her own interest. Monty comforts her but the pair are surprised by Natalie who misinterprets the situation. Jimmy, Sunny's fiancé, also appears and hears Natalie's story.

Monty is being feted at a testimonial dinner given by the Mayor, and he decides to take Sunny instead of Natalie. Sunny realizes that perhaps Monty loves her after all and we invite you to conclude the story in these last instalments.

"And if I had known we were going to have such a good time at this end of the line—"

A commotion at the far table disturbed the audience. Monty paused, and as he did so, a throaty voice filled the great room.

"You can't do this—get away from me—Let go of my arm!"

The Mayor, the Chief of Police, the Fire Chief and a score of assorted notables rose to

By this time Monty and Sunny were standing close to each other. Natalie and Jimmy with Mack Hanlon and Sunny's father were opposite. The latter two were unaware of the drama in the situation for the other four.

The Chief addressed the Mayor. "Well, we have a charge of blackmail on the books, but it's never been pressed. I remember it was against Butch McCork, gangster that's up in Alcatraz now. So I guess it won't do much good to book her on that one."

"Anything else?" questioned the Mayor.

"Disorderly conduct here, and resisting an officer!"

Monty stepped forward.

"May I have a word, Chief, and your Honor?"

"Of course!" came the reply.

"Seeing that you haven't anything really serious against her, why not let her go—that is, if she promises to leave town and not get into mischief?"

Natalie, Jimmy and Sunny chorused their affirmation. Sunny was especially strong in urging the woman's release.

"Looks like you've got some pretty influential friends, Kate," observed the Mayor. "What do you say, Chief—let her go?"

"Okay—if everybody says so—I'll dismiss the charge of disorder and resisting an officer—and call it quits."

Sunny threw her arms around Monty's neck.

"You're safe—I'm safe!" she cried happily.

Natalie and Jimmy stepped forward.

"Good work, Monty—we're glad to see everything turn out."

The Mayor and the Chief looked at each other with a puzzled expression.

"What's going on here—do you two know each other?" His Honor interrogated.

"We're old friends!" insisted

"Hold on now!" The Mayor shouted. "Let's get this straight. Do you want to marry Monty Wallace?"

"I sure do" spoke up Sunny.

"And you, Jimmy Hanlon—want to marry this girl?"

"I want Natalie more than anything else in the world!" came Jimmy's firm assurance.

"And how about you?" asked His Honor, turning to Vivian now known as Clark Street Kate, the shake-down Queen.

"I can't get married—yet," was Kate's rueful reply, "my husband is doing a two to four stretch at Stateville and he won't give me a divorce."

"That's enough!" cut in the Mayor. "Now if you two couples will line up here for about five minutes, we'll get the matrimonial part of this party over and start in where we left off!"

"Why you old darling," cried Natalie.

"I wouldn't have it any other way!" assured Jimmy.

"Isn't it just perfect?" was all Sunny could say as she smiled into Monty's eyes.

"Happy landings!" came Monty's gay reply.

NEWS NOTES

Quite a number of Raymond people were at the Calgary Stampede this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Still were visitors at Boundary Creek last week at the home of Mrs. Still's parents. Some of the children are visiting there for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wing and family returned Monday night from their Utah trip. C. R. reported a very enjoyable trip with good weather and no trouble of any kind.

Frank R. Taylor was in the U. S. on Saturday looking over the beet fields there. Prolonged rains, and delays in getting the fields cleared up are likely to result in a light yield according to Frank.

Everybody seems to have the painting fever. If you are not painting a bit around your place you are hardly in style this summer. It is very praiseworthy to see people brightening up.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fairbanks left Wednesday on a holiday trip. They headed north for Calgary and Banff and the rest of the travel was indefinite at that time.

SMOTHER CROPS FOR WEED CONTROL

(Experimental Farms Note)

Smother crops can be used effectively in controlling both annual and perennial weeds. In fact, the use of suitable smother crops will be found the most economical method of handling most weed problems, states G. E. DeLong, Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta.

There are three grain crops which can be used to advantage as smother crops. These include oat greenfeed, barley and winter rye.

To be most effective, both oat greenfeed and barley should be sown as late in the spring as possible. This delayed seeding permits partial summer fallow of the land before seeding the cover crop. The cultural practices recommended include early spring cultivation or disking of the stubble to promote germination of the weed seeds to be destroyed by a further cultural in later and seeding the cover crop in the freshly cultivated land during the latter part of May or early in June.

Handling land in the manner outlined usually results in the seed being placed in a warm moist seed bed, or under conditions that are almost ideal for quick germination and rapid development of the young oat and barley seedlings. Under such conditions, the oat and barley plants make such a vigorous growth that they tend to choke out and smother any weeds which germinate along with them.

Winter rye, seeded on a summer fallow that has been kept black throughout the summer has no competition from annual weeds the first fall and usually has no difficulty holding its own in competition with biennial weeds such as shepherd's purse and stinkweed. Unless it winter kills badly, the winter rye makes such early, vigorous and rapid growth in the spring that all weeds are held in com plete subjection.

Sunflowers constitute the best smother crop of the different row or intertilled crops. Sunflower plants are strong, vigorous growers, have broad leaves which shade the ground and if planted thickly will shade the ground to the extent that few weeds survive.

Hay crops, particularly sweet clover and alfalfa, have proved to be excellent smother crops. A heavy stand of either sweet clover or alfalfa makes it impossible for weeds to develop much growth. It's been demonstrated that a heavy stand of alfalfa can bring both Canada and Sow thistles under subjection in 3 years. Annual weeds such as wild oats, mustard, stinkweed, pigweed, lambs quarters, etc., cannot hold their own in competition with a heavy crop of legume hay of any kind.

their feet. A struggle was going on between the woman and a group of three burly plain-clothesmen. It was Vivian. Monty wondered what new mischief she had been up to.

"What's the matter back there!" demanded the Mayor. A chorus of hoarse voices answered in unison.

"We got Clark Street Kate, Chief!"

The Chief of Police leaped from behind the table. The Mayor and others followed. They met the struggling quartette midway in the room. They all returned to the table of honor.

"Who's this?" asked the Mayor.

"Clark Street Kate" came the verification, "you know—she's that Chicago shake-down artist what gave us the jump a couple years back!"

"Fancy meeting you here, Kate," was the Mayor's sarcastic greeting. "I suppose you're here by invitation?"

"Invitation—nothing!" came Vivian's indignant denial. "I pay for what I get—and you'd be surprised what five bucks can buy these days!"

The Mayor turned to the Chief. "What's the charge?"

Monty. Sunny chimed in. "She made me realize that I loved Monty after all!"

"And if she hadn't done it—I wouldn't have got Nat to promise to marry me!" returned Jimmy.

"And then Monty and I would have gone on kidding each other and goodness knows where it would all have ended!" explained Natalie.

The Mayor and the Chief were thoughtful for a moment. They turned to Jabe Marion and Mack Hanlon. There could be no explanation from that quarter.

"I don't get this," faltered the Mayor—"how do you mean she made you realize you loved some lady else instead of—oh bother! What's this all about?"

"This woman—Viv—I mean, Kate, accused me of being a husband," ventured Monty.

"Are you?" demanded the Chief.

"Of course he isn't!" replied Sunny indignantly—"he's going to be mine!"

"So that fixes it so I can marry Natalie, here, who was engaged to Monty before Viv—I mean Kate—said she was his wife!" explained Jimmy, none too clearly.

The new power shovel of the Canadian Sugar Factories, Ltd., which was recently unloaded here, is the very latest design, with gears all enclosed and running in an oil bath. It has a capacity of 2 1/2 ton, and traction of about nine feet of the caterpillar type. We watched it for a few minutes this week loading cinders, and its speed and ease of handling is in decided contrast to such shovels of the older type. Officials may take it out to Temple Hill to get the soil for covering the cinder on the new beet sheds now under construction.

A large number of Raymond people were in Cardston Sunday evening for the evening session of the quarterly conference. Will Stone and his singers furnished the music for that meeting.

L. D. King and daughters Lavon and Necia returned Wednesday after spending a couple of days at the Calgary Stampede. Necia left Thursday morning to return to her home in Saint George, and she and her husband will move shortly to Cedar City, Utah.

Raymond lost to Cardston Wednesday night in their league game with a 11-0 score. According to our players, Boyson who was on the mound pitched a great game, but received absolutely no support. All of Cardston's hits were to the infield, but not a player could stop them or if they did they were wild in their pegging. Congratulations to Bert who is rounding into a good moundsman, and here's hoping the infield are not so slippery fingered next time.

RAYMOND M. I. A. CHOIR THRILLS LARGE AUDIENCE

Furnishing the musical portion of the conference program in the Tabernacle Sunday evening, the Taylor Stake M. I. A. choral singers under the direction of W. C. Stone delighted a capacity audience. The group presented a varied program, evidencing excellent training, and showing good understanding of their numbers. At the conclusion of the meeting both President E. J. Wood and Apostle Richards expressed keen appreciation for the magnificent performance of the choir.

Composed of 225 voices, the regular Raymond choir was augmented by singers from nearly every ward in the Taylor stake. Mrs. Paul Dahl is accompanist and Frank R. Taylor is manager.

The program was as follows: "Pilgrims Chorus" from Wagner; "Dedication", Franz, sung by male chorus; "Beautiful Dreamer", Foster, sung by ladies chorus; "Sextette" (from Lucia), Donizetti; "Great Lone Hills" (from Finlandia), Jan Sibelius; and "Mother's Lullaby", with Mrs. Earl Scofield as soloist.—Cardston News
